Special Call for Staff Posters: COVID19 Responses in Healthcare

The COVID19 has affected all areas of life; for Psychologists in Integrated Settings, we faced the dual need to provide care for our patients as well as for our colleagues. We invite you and your team to submit a “poster” describing the ways you responded to the needs of your colleagues. We recognize most teams may not have measurable outcomes for the effects of your interventions, but we want to have a forum where we share innovative responses!

Submission information: 100 Word description of your program basics to MichiganHealthPsych@outlook.com

Submission due date: October 23, 2020

Conference Day Poster Format: 1 PowerPoint slide, with traditional facility/title/presenters; headings can be determined by submitter, but should include, at minimum: healthcare group targeted (all employees, surgeons, nurses, etc); type of intervention (website, call line, groups, virtual groups, etc), response to intervention; lessons learned or ways to improve; and contact information for potential future collaborations
Power Point Slides will be formatted into a collective PDF and shared with all conference participants

Call for Trainee Posters

Made Possible by the University of Michigan-Dearborn Clinical Health Psychology and Health Psychology Graduate Program

Research Poster Competition-Video Version!

The trainee poster competition has always been an exciting part of the Michigan Health Psychology Symposium! Because this year’s conference is virtual, the poster competition will be in “video” format as defined below!

- All levels of health psychology trainees (undergraduate, graduate, intern, post-docs) may submit abstracts highlighting research related to Health Psychology Integration
- Special preference for acceptance will be given to work that highlights areas of healthcare disparity (However - please do not let this dissuade you from submitting other great work if it is not related to healthcare disparity)
- Deadline: Please submit your 300 word abstract to MichiganHealthPsych@outlook.com with the title “Student Poster Submission” by midnight October 1, 2020. Those who are selected to participate will be notified via email on or before October 7, 2020.

Format: Accepted presenters will prepare a video segment (maximum 3 minutes) that provides a synopsis of the project. Within the first minute of the video the author(s), full title, and affiliation should be presented. The video should include the brief relevant background, data collection methods, results, and conclusions. Examples of video formats could be (but not limited to) – annotated power point slide, keynote presentation, or pure video recording. The accepted video submissions will be aggregated and played for the audience during the conference program. Winners will be notified after the virtual conference.
